We're thankful you have joined us today as we celebrate in worship, Bible study, and our connection with one another through fellowship. We pray God's presence will deeply touch and bless each of us.

If you are visiting today:

- ❖ We encourage you to fill out a "Lakeshore Connection" card, which is enclosed in your bulletin. This will give us an opportunity to better assist you.
- ❖ Please do not feel any obligation to participate in the offering that will be received during our worship time.
- ❖ If you need hearing assistance, speak with our media team at the back of the auditorium to pick up a unit to use during services.

GREETERS

Today's greeters: Dave and Linda

SERMON SERIES

It can be said that we live and die by hope. No matter how grim and desperate the situation, hope overcomes. Without hope, we spiral down into the depths of despair.

Hope, for many people, is little more than wishful thinking. It is optimism without substance. Biblical hope, however, doesn't wish for a better future; it expects it.

Your pastor begins a series of Sunday morning messages today on the theme of biblical hope. We invite you to join us each week as we discover and rediscover the refreshing and energizing force that real hope is. Be praying that this series of messages will deeply touch each of us.
